ORDER

The court attaches serious importance to the principles of equality and non-discrimination. It has no jurisdiction to hear and determine the one-sided application of the law by the police or other public authorities. It does not have the power to grant injunctions. It is granted that the application of the law by the police or other public authorities is dismissed with prejudice.

SIGNED August 2, 2019.

Steve Elliot

Secretary to the Head of the National Police
