To use available technology to collect, manage and analyze student data using software programs (such as Excel or an electronic gradebook)

To use available technology to collect, manage, and analyze data from multiple sources in order to interpret learning results for students

To use available technology to document student learning to determine when an intervention is necessary and appropriate

To use available technology to collect and manage formative assessment data to guide instruction

